Call to Worship from Revelation 5

PASTOR: I saw a Lamb standing, as though it had been slain And he went and took the scroll from the right hand of him who was seated on the throne. And when he had taken the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb.... And they sang a new song, saying: “Worthy are you to take the scroll and to open its seals for you were slain, and by your blood you ransomed people from every tribe and language and people and nation, and you have made them a kingdom and priests to our God, and they shall reign on the earth.” Then I looked and I heard around the throne and the living creatures and the elders the voice of many angels, numbering myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands, saying with a loud voice,

ALL: Worthy is the Lamb who was slain, to receive power and wealth and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing!”

PASTOR: And I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth and in the sea, and all that is in them, saying,

ALL: “To him who sits on the throne and to the Lamb be blessing and honor and glory and might forever and ever!”

*Congregational Prayer (to be prayed in unison)

Lord God, Almighty, on this glad day we blend our voices together with the angels and all those now glorified in heaven, in giving heartfelt praise and thanks for your mercies which are new every morning. How awesome are you, Lord Most High, the great King over all the earth! You reign over the nations, you are seated on your holy throne with the crucified, risen, ascended Jesus seated at your right hand. Accept our worship, enable us to be doers of your word rather than those who merely listen. By your Spirit through your word, make us more like Jesus in whose name we pray. Amen.

Scripture Lesson Philemon

Sermons on the Books of the Bible #58 Rev. Dr. H. Andrew Silman

Silent Reflection and Prayer

A slave named Onesimus had escaped from his owner, Philemon, and had run away from Colossae to Rome in the hope that he could disappear into that populous, urban environment. Once in Rome, Onesimus, in God’s Providence (either by accident or by his own design), came in contact with Paul, who promptly led the runaway slave to faith in Jesus Christ. Paul had already been planning to send a letter to the Colossian church by the hand of Tychicus. So, in AD 60 or 61 from a prison cell in Rome, Paul wrote a personal letter to Philemon and sent Onesimus the slave back to Colossae. The letter to Philemon reminds us that God’s revelation to humanity is intensely personal. In more formal biblical works such as the Gospels or the epistle to the Romans or even Paul’s letters to churches at Philippi or Colossae, it might be easy to get the impression that God does not care or have time for the trials and tribulations in a single household. Philemon stands as one piece of strong evidence to the contrary, revealing that lofty doctrines such as the love of God, forgiveness in Christ, or the inherent dignity of humanity have real and pertinent impact in everyday life. The book of Philemon illustrates that principles like these can and should profoundly affect the lives of believers.

THEE WE ADORE, ETERNAL LORD!

Thee we adore, eternal Lord! We praise thy name with one accord. Thy saints, who here thy goodness see, through all the world do worship thee, through all the world do worship thee.

To thee aloud all angels cry, the heav'ns and all the pow'rs on high: thee, holy, holy, holy King, Lord God of Hosts, they ever sing, Lord God of Hosts, they ever sing.

Apostles join the glorious throne, and prophets swell th'immortal song; thy martyrs' noble army raise eternal anthems to thy praise, eternal anthems to thy praise.

From day to do, O Lord, do we exalt and highly honor thee! Thy name we worship and adore, world without end, forevermore, world without end, forevermore.

SHOUT, FOR THE BLESSED JESUS REIGNS

Shout, for the blessed Jesus reigns; through distant lands his triumphs spread; and sinners, freed from endless pains, own him their Savior and their Head.

He calls his chosen from afar, they all at Zion's gates arrive; those who were dead in sin before by sovereign grace are made alive.

Gentiles and Jews his laws obey; nations remote their off'rings bring, and unconstrained their homage pay to their exalted God and King.

O may his holy church increase, his Word and Spirit still prevail, while angels celebrate his praise, and saints his growing glories hail.

Loud hallelujahs to the Lamb, from all below, and all above! In lofty songs exalt his name, in songs as lasting as his love.

WHEN THIS PASSING WORLD IS DONE

(1) When this passing world is done, when has sunk yon glaring sun, when we stand with Christ in glory, looking o'er life's finished story, then, Lord, shall I fully know, not till then, how much I owe.

(3) When I stand before the throne, dressed in beauty not my own, when I see thee as thou art, love thee with unsinning heart, then, Lord, shall I fully know, not till then, how much I owe.

(5) Chosen not for good in me, wakened up from wrath to flee, hidden in the Savior' side, by the Spirit sanctified, teach me, Lord, on earth to show, by my love, how much I owe.
